

[2009-01-06]

Sunny Qin joins Hand Lab

The Hand Lab presents its new undergraduate student researcher, Sunny Qin. Sunny is a junior student currently attending the University of Pittsburgh Department of Bioengineering. For her research internship in our Hand Lab, Sunny will design engineering methods to study the finger pinch biomechanics. In the future, Sunny would like to pursue graduate studies related to human engineering.